Labor Leaders Resent Remarks By Hoffmeister

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver trade union leaders today said that Maj. Gen. B. M. Hoffmeister, general manager of Canadian White Pine Company, is "setting veterans against civilians" by his remarks at a recent meeting here that "there are those fortunate enough to have stayed home (from the war) . . . they are the ones who should be digging ditches."

"Such remarks tend to cause a split between veterans and labor," said John Turner, secretary of the Vancouver Labor Council (C.C.L.C.I.O.).

The Vancouver local, United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.), passed a resolution saying: "This narrow brass-hat viewpoint is extremely dangerous, because it is an attempt to set veteran against civilian . . . veterans want jobs for all men who want to work, not preferential treatment."

"By firing civilians and women to make jobs for veterans, is only to admit that full employment is impossible," the resolution concluded.

Warning Against Hand Grenades

This tape unwinds and pulls a pin when a grenade is thrown. But they don't always explode, military officials warn. A boy was killed at Lakeview, Ont., when a "dud" exploded.

Rides Out Fierce Storm

The New Zealand barque Pamir as she was seen off Victoria harbor on the occasion of her visit here early this summer. Her master is Capt. A. R. Champion of Lytleton, N.S.

Famed Barque Wins Battle With 10-Hour Gale Off Cape Flattery

The famous New Zealand barque Pamir rode proudly alongside a Vancouver jetty after a terrific 10-hour fight for life against a 75-mile-an-hour gale off Cape Flattery, historic death-trap for sailing ships.

Magnificent seamanship by her captain and crew, heroic rescue work by a little Victoria tug, and the great four-master's own superb qualities saved her from being dashed to pieces on the southern rocks of Vancouver Island in one of the worst storms of her 40 years afloat.

Her every sail must be overhauled here before she returns home in a month with 3,500 tons of Canadian wheat, but otherwise she completely escaped damage, according to her third officer, F. M. Renner.

The storm struck the Pamir last Sunday night just inside the entrance of the Strait of Juan de Fuca. The tug Island Warrior had to turn back to Victoria and the sailing ship reduced sail and fought her way 60 miles out into the open sea. The gale lasted 10 hours, but it was 24 hours before the barque could crowd out sail again and head for land.

Laden with 1,100 tons of tallow consigned to Vancouver buyers, the Pamir left Wellington Sept.

22 and reached the equator 44 days later. Then she broke her own speed record by sailing 3,000 miles from the equator to the northern Washington coast in 21 days.

The Pamir was built at Hamburg in 1905. Later she was sold to Finnish interests, but the New Zealand government seized her early in the war. The barque is 316 feet long with a 46-foot beam and has a gross tonnage of 3,202.

In 1925 the Pamir broke the outward-bound sailing record around Cape Horn, and once she won one of the famous races for sailing ships from Australia to Britain.

Attempted Slaying Charge Remanded

EDMONTON (CP)—Stanley E. Chapman was committed for trial in Supreme Court after a preliminary hearing here today on two charges of attempted murder of Beatrice Lund and Pte. Fred E. Whitford.

Whitford testified that Chapman had slashed Miss Lund with a jack-knife after claiming she had pushed him in an Edmonton cafe Nov. 14. Whitford, who interfered because "he couldn't see a woman get cut up," was then attacked.

Rush for Bread

TORONTO (CP)—The bread-buying rush in Toronto grocery and bakery stores continued today as the union security strike of some 400 bakery workers and drivers of Brown's Bread, Ltd., went into its fifth day. There also have been increases in flour sales.

Union sources said that so far there is no indication of any sympathy strike action by employees of other bread companies. The strikers are demanding a union shop and a checkoff.

Austrian Rightists Get Decisive Vote

VIENNA (AP)—The Austrian elections ended in a decisive victory for the Rightist Volkspartei, but members of all the contesting parties professed pleasure today at the returns.

The unofficial count gave the Volkspartei the first clear-cut majority in the history of Austria's national assembly. It won about 52 per cent of the popular votes, some 3,200,000, and 85 seats in the national assembly.

The Socialists claimed distinct inroads in Rightist strength in provincial villages, even though they lost a little ground to the Volkspartei in traditionally Socialist Vienna. Socialists won 76 assembly seats.

The Communists captured only four seats, but received about six per cent of the popular vote, which represented a gain over their showing in the last previous free elections.

Cow Bought For $21,000 Dies

CALGARY (CP)—Mount Vic Bon Hour Pieteje B, a Holstein cow which was purchased Oct. 29 by Hays Ltd. of Calgary, for $21,000 is dead.

The cow died several weeks after giving birth to a bull calf for which an offer of $20,000 had been received by Hays Ltd., shortly after it was born. It is believed that the loss is partly covered by insurance.

Declines Comment

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell said today he had no immediate comment on the rejection by United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) of a settlement proposal for the Ford Motor Co. strike at Windsor, Ont. Mr. Mitchell said he wished to talk to both union and company officials before commenting and would probably make a statement in the Commons tomorrow.

New Defence Plans Needed; Oceans Now Secret Approaches

TORONTO (CP)—Discussing the possibility of a Third Great War, Maj. Gen. George Pearkes, V.C., today warned the Empire Club the decision in another war would be fought out on Canadian territory.

Idealism has been sadly tempered by fear and realism, Gen. Pearkes said. If doubts and uncertainties exist, one or more of the great powers might launch another world war and Canada would become the Belgium or Poland of such a war.

Secrecy Preserves U.S. A-Bomb Lead, General Declares

WASHINGTON (CP)—The United States has such a head start in an atomic armament race, Maj. Gen. L. R. Groves asserted today, that no country could ever overtake it "for all time to come—provided the rules are the same."

The rules, he told the Senate atomic energy committee, are "secrecy." Amplifying, he said: "If they have secrecy and we have secrecy, we'll be ahead."

An entirely different view of an atomic armament race was presented by Prof. Harold C. Urey, a colleague of Gen. Groves in the development of the atomic weapon.

"We are making bombs and storing them," Prof. Urey declared, "and thus are a threat to other countries and are guilty of beginning the atomic armament race. It continued it will lead to dire disaster."

The University of Chicago chemistry professor took the position that atomic bombs must not be made by any country or stored any place in the world "if we are to have any feeling of security on this all-too-small planet." He urged strict atomic control by the United Nations Organization.

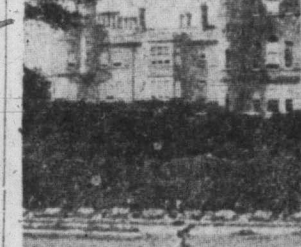

Gen. Groves estimated that it might be possible for another country to produce an atomic bomb within 15 or 20 years if it did so in complete secrecy, although with help from the United States, Great Britain and Switzerland (for fine machine tools and so on) the time might be reduced to five or seven years.

Million Bu. Per Day Of Wheat Exported

CALGARY (CP)—Since August, 1943, Canada has been providing wheat for export at the average rate of 1,000,000 bushels a day, George McIvor of Winnipeg, chairman of the Canadian Wheat Board, told the Alberta Wheat Pool convention today.

He said farmers of the prairie provinces had made a great contribution to the United Nations' war effort.

General Ike's Castle in Ayrshire

Shown here is the 160-year-old Culzean castle in Ayrshire, a part of which has been accepted as a gift by Gen. Eisenhower for use as a residence during visits to Scotland. The castle is the residence of Lord Ailsa and family who will continue to occupy a new wing of the building. The gift includes 2,000 acres of shooting preserves. The castle, built in Gothic style, is situated on the verge of steep cliff.

"Invasion would be launched by air," he said, "with great weights of bombs, followed by secret attacks from airborne troops."

In view of these possibilities, Gen. Pearkes stressed the necessity for changes in Canada's defence forces. In previous wars Canada has lived in comparative immunity from attack.

"That happy condition has changed. Oceans no longer protect us. Our isolated approaches, the Atlantic, Pacific and Arctic Oceans are no longer protection. Rather they provide 'secret approaches' for the enemy."

"We need an effective intelligence service which could provide warning of attack from seemingly friendly countries. We must carry out unremitting research that will make surprise attacks less likely."

Warning to Army At Honolulu Got There Too Late

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall's last-minute warning to the army commander in Hawaii to "be on the alert"—a message delivered after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor—was laid before congressional investigators today.

A previous investigation by an army inquiry board showed that while Gen. Marshall called Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines by telephone to warn him on Dec. 7, 1941, he dispatched a message to Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, in command at Honolulu.

This message, which went by commercial cable because the army's radio facilities were not working properly, was as follows: "Secret. '529 7th Japanese are presenting at 1 p.m., eastern standard time today what amounts to an ultimatum—also they are under orders to destroy their code machine immediately stop just what significance the hour set may have to do not know but be on alert accordingly stop inform naval authorities of this communication."

"MARSHALL"

The message showed it was dispatched from Washington at 11:18 p.m., C.S.T. Army investigators learned it was received in Hawaii about 45 minutes later, less than an hour before the attack began at 7:50 a.m., Hawaiian time.

Inquest Jurymen To See Saanich Tragedy Scene

Second adjournment of the inquest into the death of 16-year-old Mylanwy (Dot) Sanders was this morning ordered by Coroner E. C. Hart, who said that examination by police had not been completed.

Adjournment was ordered until 10.30 morning of Dec. 11.

Following the adjournment at Sands Mortuary, Saanich police said that a great deal of investigating was being done, adding they were unable at this time to divulge information as to the mysterious disappearance of the girl and subsequent finding of her body in a field near Burnside and Grange Roads 23 days later.

It was intimated that a solution to the case was near but no definite information would be released yet.

At the suggestion of the foreman of the inquest jury, W. S. Tull, Coroner Hart agreed to the members of the jury visiting the scene of the finding of the body at 9.30 in the morning of the next sitting of the inquest.

"I feel that a great deal of responsibility has been placed on our shoulders in this case," said Mr. Tull in making the suggestion. "We want to know the facts."

"It is a very good suggestion," the coroner said. "The jury must certainly will be given the opportunity to view the scene."

"I was out there," the jury foreman added, "and I feel that the jury members can learn a lot by going too."

"I would further suggest that whoever picked up the body come along as well," he said. Coroner Hart said that arrangements would be made for the police officers in question to be included in the visit to the scene.

Questioned as to the case before the inquest opened, Coroner Hart said he knew little about it and had purposely remained "out of the picture" wishing only to get the facts by witnesses "under oath."

Niagara Peninsula Gets Blizzard

By The Canadian Press

The first snowstorm of the winter season struck most of southern and part of northern Ontario today, concentrating its force in the Niagara Peninsula where a wet, heavy snow snapped telegraph poles and cut off all telegraphic communication.

Niagara Falls reported seven inches of snow which started with a rainfall. The Canadian National Telegraphs and Canadian Pacific communications reported in Toronto they had lost all their wires to the Niagara Peninsula. Canadian Press communications to Niagara papers and between Toronto and New York were affected.

Meeting May Appoint Official To Press In Ottawa for B.C. Jobs

A meeting Saturday morning of representatives of labor, municipal councils, veterans, the clergy and other groups with the B.C. cabinet is expected to complete plans to have a permanent representative stationed in Ottawa to press for Dominion public works in this province to relieve unemployment.

Meanwhile 300 unemployed, including a considerable number of war veterans, have organized to press for similar action.

The meeting Saturday with Acting Premier George S. Pearson and members of the B.C. cabinet is a follow-up of previous discussions at which the government had expressed approval to a plan to have a representative sent to Ottawa.

It is expected the government and labor unions, and possibly other organizations, will share the expense of sending the representative to Ottawa. Quite possibly the representative to be named will be an official in the B.C. government.

Included in the delegation to meet the cabinet Saturday morning will be representatives of both A.F.L. and C.C.L. unions in Victoria and Vancouver.

Ford Workers Reject Offer To End Strike

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Members of Local 200 of the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) today voted to reject a proposal for settlement of the 79-day strike at the Ford Motor Company of Canada plant.

Union officials announced 52 per cent of the members attending a mass meeting voted to reject the proposal and 48 per cent favored it. No totals of the voting were announced.

The vote was taken by secret ballot at the meeting after union members heard discussion of the proposal which was said to be favored by high-ranking leaders. It had received approval Wednesday from the negotiating committee and policy committee of Local 200 and the joint policy committee of Locals 200 and 195. However, shop stewards Wednesday night voted 71 to 67 against acceptance.

Result of the ballot dashed high hopes for settlement of the union security dispute which has kept 10,000 Ford production workers in idleness since Sept. 12 and 1,500 office workers idle since Sept. 13.

The settlement proposal was advanced by the federal government. Although its details were not announced, it was reported the plan called for appointment of an umpire to see that strikers were returned to work without discrimination. The union security issue would be left to negotiation and, if necessary, a final ruling would be made on this and other points at issue by an arbitrator whose decisions would be accepted as final.

Meeting May Appoint Official To Press In Ottawa for B.C. Jobs

Victoria C.C.L. representatives will include T. A. Mitchell, president of the Victoria Labor Council; W. E. Harrison, J. D. Smith and D. E. Fitzgerald.

Before Saturday A.F.L. and other unions may name further representatives.

W. T. Straith, Victoria M.L.A., will also join the delegation. It is expected Ald. B. J. Gadsden will represent the City Council. The delegation will discuss unemployment and establishment of new secondary industries in B.C. to take care of the growing group of unemployed.

At an organizing meeting for unemployed Wednesday night at the Bolleymakers' Hall, Fred Cardwell, president of the Bolleymakers' Union, was named president of the unemployed organization. Other officers elected were Ross O'Brien, vice-president; Jack Hole, secretary, and Mrs. M. Burgoyne, L. LeClair, W. McLaughlin and George Williams, executive members.

AVOID RELIEF

At the meeting it was emphasized that every effort should be made to prevent a return to pre-war relief measures and substitute in their place public works programs and secondary industries.

The organization will probably ask for representation on the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, the Victoria Labor Council and Joint Labor-Veteran Consultative Committee, and other organizations.

Housing Plan for All Canada Proposed By B.C. Ottawa Group

By NORMAN MACLEOD,
Victoria Times Staff Correspondent

OTTAWA—Plans for the creation of a virtual Federal Supply Ministry for the Canadian construction industry today loomed as one of the major concrete developments likely to result from the current deliberations of the Provincial Premiers with the Dominion ministers.

Allied with the plan is a proposal to merge all government building agencies—War-time Housing Limited, National Housing, and Veterans' Housing—into one administration thus eliminating competition between the different groups and between private building as well for critical materials and scarce skilled labor.

Still another facet of the program, if the federal government accepts it, as seems highly probable at the present moment, will be the establishment by the Department of Labor of construction trade schools right across the country. The function of these schools will be to train current surplus unskilled labor which is available so that it can meet the current shortage of skilled and semi-skilled labor which is one of the construction industry's present bottlenecks.

HART INTRODUCES IT

The whole scheme is British Columbian in its conception. Premier John Hart has brought it before the present week's sessions of the Dominion-Provincial Conference, and has had numerous conferences on it as well with Reconstruction Minister C. D. Howe.

Robert W. Mayhew, Parliamentary Assistant to Finance Minister Isley and Liberal member for Victoria, is also reported to be strongly favorable to it, and to be pressing strongly in Parliamentary circles for its adoption. Among British Columbia Liberal M.P.'s, Mr. Mayhew is given major credit for being one of the real sponsors of the scheme.

The philosophy back of the whole plan is that proper organization of the Canadian construction industry on a national basis will serve not only to solve a national unemployment problem for at least five years to come, but that it will also cure the acute housing shortage which every section of the nation faces.

Chungking Troops Halt Mukden March; Await Soviet Word

CHUNGKING (AP)—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, United States commander in China, told newspapermen today he thought Gen. George C. Marshall was being sent to China "to make a survey of the situation and make appropriate recommendations to the President concerning future United States assistance—or military aid—to China."

Gen. Marshall is coming to China as special envoy, replacing temporarily at least the resigned U.S. Ambassador, Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley.

Chinese press dispatches meanwhile reported Nationalists have halted their fighting advance toward Mukden, Manchuria, because Russians allegedly agreed to their peaceful entry later into that industrially-rich city.

The dispatches said Nationalists now are mopping up Chinese Communist resistance in the area between Shanhsien, Grand Well-gateway to Manchuria, and Kowpangtze, a rail-junction 90 miles below Mukden.

Another report said Chinese Communists whose resistance to the Nationalist drive thus far has been sporadic, were digging in at Tahushan, on the Peiping-Mukden railroad 25 miles north-east of Kowpangtze.

Princess to Inspect Canadian Scottish

LONDON (CP)—The 1st Battalion of the Canadian Scottish Regiment of Victoria and the Royal Scots Regiment will hold one of the last official parades in England here next Thursday when they will be inspected by the Princess Royal, the Countess of Harewood, who is Colonel-in-Chief of both regiments.

Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner to Britain, and the Lord Mayor of London, will also be present at the parade.

Lt. Col. E. S. Henderson of Victoria will present the Royal Scots with a silver plaque. He is commander of the 4th Battalion of the Canadian Scottish, which now is serving in the Canadian occupational zone of Germany.

No More Meetings Of Big 3 Required If U.N.O. Succeeds

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman said today he saw no need for any more Big Three conferences if the United Nations organization works as it should.

Asked at a press conference whether revisions in Allied control policy and machinery for Germany might require a meeting of himself, Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee, Mr. Truman said he was not in favor of special conferences.

He wants the United Nations to do its job, he added, saying he

CRITICISM BY GENERALITIES

NO GOVERNMENT WORTH ITS SALT will object to honest criticism and constructive advice. And the present administration at Ottawa has listened and, does listen to the beat of the public pulse. But such loose and uninstructed comments on Canada's temporary and unavoidable unemployment problem as emanates from some quarters is neither helpful nor sensible. For the most part it derives from an incurable habit of criticism for criticism's sake—and comes from one or two newspapers which cannot for the life of them get used to the fact that the majority of Canadians endorsed Mr. King and turned their backs on Mr. Bracken last June. The sting of that rebuff still smart. But there it is. The people issued their instructions.

One such critic, for instance, regales its readers with a long tirade of tangled verbiage with double and treble repetitions of the obvious, and gets itself so enmeshed in a series of facetious questions that it explodes in the remembrance of "the years of 1929-1933" when "unemployment and the dole" were with us. This is rather rough on the Bennettism which the critic in question so warmly applauded—and, by that token, approved—the trade and employment restricting policies which exacted a five-year payment from the people of Canada for their mistake at the polls in 1930. And now we are told that this country "seems headed for a log-jam in its replacement of men and women, for which express purpose it has had six years' warning and many millions of dollars in public funds."

An intelligent public, of course, understands something of the complexities of reconversion, the retooling of factories from uneconomic to economic productive capacity, the consequent shortage of certain materials, and the reallocation of human skills in the general industrial shuffle. This is not an excuse for governmental dawdling; speed and imagination at Ottawa are needed now; it is merely a recital of some of the factors which cannot be resolved in an atmosphere of captiousness or impatience. So much for the present national scene.

The local situation brings a reminder, not of 1929-1933, but of the early spring of 1944. Back in January last year, this newspaper, as a public service and at considerable cost, published illustrations of various civic improvements considered suitable for postwar employment projects in which returning servicemen might take part. Not only were these frowned upon by the critic which cannot resist the temptation to criticize for criticism's sake. For we were told that once these ideas were removed from their "aura of mystery and fantasy, when $10,000,000 plans, unapproved and even unconsidered, were budding and blooming overnight, there is a serious case for postwar reconstruction and planning in the Greater Victoria area."

What were these mysterious and fantastic plans? They were artistic designs for public structures demanded by a growing community and essential to promote the expansion upon which employment depends to a considerable extent. It was never argued that they were to be accepted as pictorially represented; they were part of the "serious case" for reconstruction, an inducement for the production of other ideas. To be sure, their submission for the consideration of the taxpayers antedated D-Day by nearly six months; and yet we were further advised—by the same critic which now speaks of a return to conditions experienced under Bennettism—in the following terms:

"One day, sooner or later, the Greater Victoria area and every municipal area within it will be asked: 'What public works are contemplated that would fit in with national and provincial plans?' Our answers must be ready, and they must be well-considered ones... plans will be necessary."

"One day, sooner or later" for something which Greater Victoria was in an excellent position to tackle from a practical standpoint early last year? But who will seriously argue that the government at Ottawa could have combined its preparations for war in 1939 with the erection of a meticulously-thought-out plan to anticipate every contingency of a peace in 1945? No government anywhere is endowed with second sight; the Ottawa administration nevertheless did set up a special committee on rehabilitation and reconstruction early in 1942, and through this agency assembled a vast amount of planning material which has enabled the country to approach many of the more intricate post-war problems with intelligence. And we doubt if there is any English-speaking country in a better position to deal with and solve them than Canada. But criticism by way of airy and pontifical generalities serves no constructive purpose.

WHY THE WASTE?

THE PROTEST OF THE NATIONAL executive of the Canadian Association of Scientific Workers against destruction of five Japanese cyclotrons, reportedly on orders of Gen. MacArthur, will focus public attention again on the demolition of physical assets which might have been of value to countries which did not possess them.

Without any knowledge of the cyclotron or its purpose, the general public nevertheless will be impressed by the Canadian body's complaint.

The text of the protest indicates that equipment could have been brought to this country which does not possess a single cyclotron and which can acquire one only at great cost in money and scientific effort. And if "many of our universities and research institutions... would have regarded them as acquisitions of great value," there seems little justification for their destruction.

Nor will a footnote explanation saying the action was taken to further impair Japan's war-making potential carry much weight. The means of constructing more will still be known and their manufacture is still a possibility. The secondary defence point—that they were already obsolete—also seems somewhat flimsy. A T-model Ford is obsolete, but, where there is no other mode of transit, it still fulfills a function.

Destruction of anything that can be of value for peaceful purposes can hardly claim approval. Such a policy will revive unpleasant memories of incidents such as the burning of cotton, coffee, and the wilful spoiling of oranges when those commodities were sorely needed in countries distant from the areas in which they were destroyed.

While it is true that many charges of wastage have been discredited by commissions set up to inquire into such matters, the demolition of cyclotrons and other machinery and material, including the items listed by an Australian dispatch this week, will be a constant source of displeasure to all who abhor vandalism and waste.

UP TO THE U.N.O.

SOME POINTED OBSERVATIONS which Mr. Truman let drop at his press conference in Washington this morning should help to clear away a little of the fog which had begun to settle on the international scene. Not that the President had discovered some mystic formula for the immediate creation of a new spirit of mutual trust and admiration between the "Big Three" or the "Big Five." But he did appear to be approaching certain difficult aspects of those relations with a correct perspective.

For example, Mr. Truman sees no need for any more "Big Three" conferences if the United Nations Organization gets down to practicalities and does the job for which it was created—a point of view that should appeal to all reasonable-minded folk. Meetings of the political leaders of Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union served vital purposes during the war years, and consequent upon the unconditional surrender of Germany. But after the publication and endorsement of the Charter produced at San Francisco the world's most difficult problems became the charge of all the nations signatory to that document. And in view of the fact that the Preparatory Commission of the U.N.O. in London is now making arrangements for the first meeting of the General Assembly, Mr. Truman is obviously correct in his opinion that it should apply itself to its tasks at the appointed time—early in the New Year. That will be its first test. How it fares is another matter altogether.

It is refreshing to note, moreover, that the President is nothing like as skeptical about Russia's co-operation as many of his political friends and critics—some of whom doubtless are dividing their attention between the troubled domestic and world condition and their prospects at the Congressional election in 1946. As to the Soviet, today's report of his press conference says Mr. Truman was "very emphatic."

To those not permitted to look behind the scenes or to inspect the contents of diplomatic pouches, certain aspects of the Moscow government's methods are puzzling, and may continue to be so until the First General Assembly's proceedings let in more light on the official exchanges between the capitals of the "Big Three" nations. In other words, unenlightened criticism, and still more dangerous speculation, should be given a holiday.

THE NATIONAL DEBT

AT THE END OF THE PRESENT FISCAL year, the net public debt of Canada will amount to over $13,500,000,000. This will represent a 330 per cent increase over the national debt at the outbreak of the war. Whereas at the end of the fiscal year, 1938-1939, the liability amounted to $3,152,000,000, or about $272 per capita, at the end of the fiscal year 1944-45, it stood at $11,298,000,000, or $974 per capita.

The total gross debt rose from $4,028,000,000 on April 1, 1940, to $15,712,000,000 on April 1, 1945. After deducting holdings by the government, the debt increased from $3,271,000,000 to $11,298,000,000 during this period. This increase in the debt, however, was not accompanied by a corresponding rise in the debt service, primarily because of the reduction in interest rates. Whereas, on April 1, 1939, the average rate of interest paid by the government was 3.32 per cent per annum, at the end of March, 1945, it was only 2.51 per cent.

While the debt constitutes a problem, it is not as serious at the present time as is generally believed because the debt service absorbs only about 3 per cent of the total national income. It is evident, however, that the maintenance of a high inflow is necessary to prevent the debt from becoming too great a burden. A large national income, accompanied by full employment, will make it possible for the government to obtain sufficient revenues to meet interest charges without too much of a sacrifice on the part of the taxpayers. If the income should decline, however, the debt problem would become more difficult to handle.

Straightening Kinks

By H. J. UXLEN

THE LONGER BRITISH military government operates in Germany, the clearer become the individual problems which, when solved, will produce the new Germany. One of the most important of these is education. There is already much to report on developments in this sphere.

The most urgent problem as regards elementary schools, namely that of classrooms and teachers, has for the most part been solved, if only in some cases, temporarily. At last, after many years, the boys and girls are being taken off the streets. Now the British military government is getting down the job of reopening the higher grade schools. Dusseldorf and Hamburg were the first towns in which this was possible. Today the whole educational system of Hamburg comes under the direction of Senator Landahl, who is directly answerable to the military government. As headmaster of the progressive "Lichward" school he was widely known beyond the limits of Hamburg before Hitler came to power. With Landahl there is a "special staff" of teachers who, during the last few months, have undergone a long course of training in their duties under the military administration. Up to the present the following subjects are allowed: Religion, mathematics, manual instruction, gymnastics and sport. It is to be expected that Latin and Greek will follow at a later date.

THE MAIN DIFFICULTY still to be overcome by the military government is in regard to textbooks, because one of the worst crimes of National Socialism was committed in this sphere.

It is interesting to survey some of the books brought into use under the National Socialist rule. Firstly there was "Putzker's Historical School Atlas." This book was once famous throughout the world, especially for its excellent maps. The 1942 edition also contains maps, but very strange ones. For example, illustrations of the fantastic theories of Rosenberg's myth, maps showing the rise of the "NSDAP," the National Socialist German Labor Party, and even a map bearing the inscription: "Germany's Awakening—Hitler's Flight Over Germany, 15th-30th July, 1932."

ONE OF THE MOST widely used arithmetic books in National Socialist schools is entitled: "Living Figures." It was destined for the seventh and eighth school year, that is to say for children of 13 to 14 years of age. On page 63 it says: "The German Wireless: The wireless unites the Fuehrer with the people. Everyone can and should hear the Fuehrer on the wireless and learn his will. Question No. 1: A German wireless receiving set may be bought for 65 reichsmark. The salesman may calculate 25 per cent of the selling price as profit. How much profit does he make?" Furthermore the book contains an utterly distorted representation of the colonial question, and lastly, a statistical analysis of population problems—and all this for children of 13 to 14 years of age!

Melzer and Jungblut's history textbook, "History of the German People," contains the most shameless distortions of history imaginable, anti-Christian and anti-European.

THE SAME APPLIES to literary history. The main book on this subject used under National Socialist rule was a literary history by Dr. Fritz Luebbe and Dr. Heinrich Lohmann entitled: "German Poetry—Past and Present." In the foreword it states quite frankly: "In view of the educational and cultural teaching of German schools, coming within the framework of the National Socialist general education, all periods of German poetry could not be given as being equally meritorious. Only those periods have been given in detail, which in their poetic expression agree with the National Socialist teaching of the schools: the great national regeneration from the Germanic period up to the present day." In the list of names at the end of the book one seeks in vain among the list of German poets for the name "Heine," but Hitler's name is there.

The old textbooks, naturally, cannot be used and reserves from the pre-1933 period are scarcely available. New textbooks could not be maintained for many reasons, including shortage of paper, shortage of labor, transport difficulties and so forth.

THE SCHOLARS in the higher grade schools in Germany, therefore, have to work from notes taken during the lectures given by their teachers. These lectures, therefore, are today the mainstay of German schooling. They all have one fundamental principle in common, based on the instructions issued by the military government, namely to guide the boys and girls back to independent thinking after 12 years of totalitarian obedience.

A short while ago, Miss Ellen Wilkinson, British Minister for Education, visited the German schools. She was able to see for herself that those same democratic principles are being taught in the schools coming within the British zone of occupation in Germany, with which the rising generation of British citizens are equipped for democracy.

WELCOME HOME

From the B.C. Teacher

The opening of the fall school term was marked by the return to teaching of a number of federation members who had been away in active service. To all these The B.C. Teacher extends a very sincere "Welcome Home."

Educationally, for the most part, these members have gained rather than lost by their absence. They return broader, richer, spiritually, and more tolerant than they ever were before. They have seen new faces, visited strange countries, come into contact with radically different cultures, and as a result have become wise in the ways of men. Applied to them, the criticism so often heard that teachers are impractical creatures who live apart from reality in a world of books, will have no meaning.

Oh, for the good old slow days when you didn't look silly if your stuff got into print a week late.

Letters To The Editor

VISION REQUIRED

The need for a vigorous and aggressive campaign by the province and the city of Victoria to find employment for the many released by the cessation of the war is of major importance. The need for their labors are many and it is now that something should be done. The population has greatly increased and the majority wish to stay. Both city and province are in good financial standing and these moneys should be used for these projects now. It is either that or the whole will be frittered away in doles, with disgust and dissatisfaction to the recipient and a headache to the governments.

With the finest merchandise in Canada to sell, our administrators should get down to the real business of selling British Columbia. The city should borrow to the fullest extent and put all into making Victoria what it is supposed to be. For years we have traded on what was always here. We talk and procrastinate and don't do a darned thing. We fuss over trifles and let the main issue go hang.

No business can hope to be successful without expenditure, lots of it, wisely spent. Here in Victoria the most striking example of this is the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. On a stinking mud flat they built a palatial hotel, purchased the finest of ships, excellent in service and appointments for the benefit of the traveling public. Sure they spent money, but they are getting handsome returns; they did not expect something for nothing. The city is the richest per capita in Canada. If the city coffers do not hold enough to put the now very necessary improvements into effect, then borrow and plenty, for the jobs. Pay good wages to get the work well done. Don't pinch the penny and stay in the slough. Forget the bellyache about other places taking our cake. Get some spunk and work—and plan for the returns that will surely come.

Receives National Appointment

MRS. JOHN BAXTER

National Council of the Y.W.C.A. has announced the appointment of Mrs. John Baxter as provincial vice-president.

Mrs. Baxter has been associated with the Y.W.C.A. since 1933 and is a past president of the local association. During these years she was the first chairman of the war services committee, which helped set up the Richmond Leave Centre in the early years of the war. When the Y.W.C.A. were asked by the government to set up farm service camps, Mrs. Baxter was the representative of the Victoria association on the provincial committee responsible for the operation of these camps. She also acted on the local advisory committee to National Selective Service.

In her capacity as provincial vice-president, Mrs. Baxter will undertake special jobs on behalf of the National Council and will be available for consultation with local Y.W.C.A.s in the province. Her first assignment was to attend the northwest leadership conference held in Seattle at which discussions took place on inter-racial attitudes, and on the future position of war services personnel and volunteers within the associations.

The University Women's Club endorsed the candidacy of Miss Isla Tuck for re-election as school trustee in the city of Victoria, also that of Mrs. Evelyn Bryce for re-election to the Saanich school board, at their meeting Wednesday evening. The endorsement was offered on the excellent record of public service already given by these two women.

Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin was in the chair. Reports were given by Miss Olive Heritage on the B.C. Drama Festival meeting; Miss Ruth Sherman on the National Confederation project to assist university women of the liberated countries; Mrs. J. M. Thomas on the liaison officers' meeting of the Women's Regional Advisory Council with Miss Byrne Hope Saunders.

Treasurer's report showed $333.63 on hand and Mrs. P. Matthews announced $169.06 was made at the Indian dramatizations concert.

The resignation of Mrs. M. White as recording secretary was accepted and a donation of $25 made to the Princess Alice Fund. Five new members were received and Mrs. Ernest Evans, president of the Victoria and District P.T.A. Council, welcomed as a special guest.

At the conclusion of the business meeting Eric Druce, B.Sc.F., public relations and educational officer with the B.C. Forest Service, gave a short talk on "Trees Are Your Bread and Butter."

Mr. Druce gave an outline of the forest set-up in British Columbia and how it functions. He elaborated on the harvesting of timber, forest protection, conservation, perpetuity and the disposal of lumber.

Touching briefly on the forest program he told of soil conservation, knowledge of the growth of trees and the battle that goes on to protect the forests not only from fire but from insects and disease.

A film, "Trees and Homes," concluded Mr. Druce's talk. Mrs. E. MacQueen thanked the speaker and at the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served.

NO BAROMETER OF LOVE

Dear Miss Dix: I am a young man, thinking about love and marriage, and I would like to ask your advice about these matters.

(1) How can a man be sure he is really in love? (2) What are the factors which destroy love? (3) What are the factors which increase love? (4) What are the harmful effects of petting? (5) What does a woman want most in a man? (6) What is the ideal age for marriage? (7) What gifts does a girl appreciate most from a man? I shall appreciate greatly your reply to these questions.

Answer: No questions concerning the problems of love and marriage can be answered definitely, because the reply is bound to depend so much on the personality of the questioner and his background. But here is my guess to the reply of your queries:

NO HARD, FAST RULES

(1) No man can be absolutely sure he is really in love because our emotions fluctuate and the individual who charmed us today may leave us cold tomorrow. Also it is possible to discover characteristics which you never suspected in the party of the other part—and that may turn your love to loathing.

(2) Factors which destroy love are selfishness, temper, tyranny, stinginess, coldness, deceit. (3) Factors which increase love are generosity, nobility, altruism, sweetness of disposition. (4) The harmful effects of petting are that it incites to sexuality and immorality. (5) What a woman wants most in a man is love, tenderness, strength and the feeling that she can trust and depend upon him.

(6) The divorce records show that the best age for marriage for men is in the latter twenties.

By that time a man is generally ready to settle down and able to support a family. (7) The gifts that a woman appreciates from a man depend on her taste. A man doesn't have to worry about what that is because she hands him enough hints to leave him in no doubt what she wants.

Musical Arts Recital Features Two Young Artists

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

A splendid program showing great achievement and promise for the future, was given by two young artists at the Victoria Musical Art Society's November recital, held in the Empress Hotel ballroom Wednesday night. The large audience gave Robin Wood and Natalie Minunzie an enthusiastic reception, recalling their many times.

Robin Wood, 20-year-old pianist has grown up in the city and has been identified with its musical life since before the age of 10. That his superlative talent and ability will carry him far afield cannot be doubted by anyone who heard his performance last night, especially in the extensive Schumann Sonata in G minor. In this composition his keen intellectual understanding combined with a mature technique resulted in a vivid, vigorous performance that, at the same time, never lacked warmth. The Scarlatti Pastoral and Capriccio was clean-cut, brilliant, perfectly controlled.

His final group contained the two preludes, G sharp minor and G minor, Rachmaninoff, and Chopin's Etude in E major and Scherzo in C sharp minor. In these the virtuosity of his octave technique and an amazing range of tone color were outstanding. As encores he gave promising evidence of his ability as a composer with a pleasing rhythmic "March" and also the Chopin Etudes in C sharp minor and C minor (Revolutionary) and the "Ritual Fire Dance" (de Falla).

Sharing the honors of the evening was Natalie Minunzie of Vancouver, a mezzo-soprano who, not yet 17, has a voice whose beauty and warmth should place her among top-ranking singers in a few years' time. Her two groups were well chosen, ideally suited to her present technical attainment, with the result that she sang with ease and an altogether charming effect. A warm rounded tone from beginning to end of her range, absolute clarity of diction and a rare conception

What's New Around the Home

Painters' Brushes—Sometimes leave the straight and narrow path around windows and mirrors. These splashes and smudges can be removed by rubbing very gently with steel wool.

Dust Settles—It always seems that dust settles on the towels and sheets at the bottom of the pile in the linen closet. Reason—they seldom get used. Freshly-laundered sheets should always be placed at the bottom and less-recently laundered linens brought to the top.

Your Fur Coat—If the rains descend upon your fur coat, don't despair. Remove the moisture by patting lightly with a dry cloth, then hang the coat in a cool place to dry. Shake it frequently, both upside down and right side up. Never, never dry wet furs near heat of any sort, as the skins may be injured.

of the beauty of pianissimo characterized her singing.

In her first group the sostenuto passages, and the lovely atmosphere of the Handel "Sleep," the intricate phrasing of "Come and Trip It" (Handel), and the delicacy of "Se Florida e Fedele" (Scarlatti), were remarkable. With her particular gift for creating atmosphere, the modern group was all charming, particularly "The Fairy Lough" (Stanford), and "The Water Mill" (Vaughan Williams). Her encores were "Love Has Eyes" (Bishop) and "The Waterlily" (Grieg). Phyllis Schults was the artistic and capable accompanist.

Lt.-Col. Reid Running For Esquimalt Council

Lt.-Col. E. J. Reid has entered the field to run for a seat on the Esquimalt Council, he announced today. This brings to eight the number contesting the four seats on the council.

Lt.-Col. Reid is well known in Esquimalt civic circles, having run for reeve in 1939 when he came within 10 votes of being elected. He has been a resident of Esquimalt for many years and is at present senior administrative officer, Pacific Command. He is a former member of the Canadian Bisley rifle team.

Refrigerator Trays—Your china or glass drip tray should be rinsed first with cold, then with lukewarm water before washing. Hot water poured directly on the cold surface may cause a bad rack.

Wise Housewives—Use a handy bottled-air freshener such as a light Cologne. Ideal for cleaning musty, closed-off rooms, stuffy closets, and stale, smoke-filled atmosphere after yesterday's party. It's pleasant in a sick room, too.

Learn to Relax—Good way to rest tensed muscles is to sit down, knees apart and feet flat on the floor. Eyes closed and hands relaxed in the lap, slowly raise your left arm to an overhead vertical position. Then let it drop like a dead weight to your side. Do this several times with one arm and then the other.

Let's Eat!

For Butter Flavor—The short-age which makes it impossible to use a lavish hand with butter brings forth the suggestion of using buttered bread crumbs to dress up cooked vegetables. Melt a half tablespoon of butter and add half a cup of fine, dry bread crumbs. Stir over heat until the crumbs are well browned. Sprinkle over the cooked vegetables.

Tricks With Eggs—Don't wash your precious eggs until just before using them and you will save the protective film on the shell which helps keep it fresh. A cracked egg is a casualty which can be used. Wrap it in waxed paper with the ends twisted tightly and it can be cooked handsily. In slicing hard cooked eggs dip your knife in cold water and the yolk won't crumble.

Brussel Sprouts—Combine this seasonal vegetable with hot crisp diced bacon and a little bacon fat. Season with salt, pepper and a smidgen of prepared horseradish.

Waldorf Salad—To add a crisp note to your meal combine chopped pared apple, celery and walnut meats with mayonnaise or salad dressing; garnish with unpared red apple wedges.

Something Different—Fruit with meat suggests old world flavor, doesn't it? But what may have once been European in origin is now American by adoption. A savory sauce with plump cooked dried prunes and apricots gives a crowning distinction to roasted lamb shanks.

Mock Mince Pie—Combine 5 cups chopped pared tart apple, 1½ cups firmly packed brown sugar, 3 tablespoons vinegar, ¼ cup water, 1½ cups sultanas, ¼ teaspoon cloves, ¼ teaspoon tea-spice, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ boiling point, simmer 40 minutes, stirring. Pour into 9-inch unbaked pastry shell, cover with pastry with heart-shaped pieces cut out; make fancy edge. Bake in hot oven, 425 degrees F., 30 minutes.

Sunday Night Supper—Snappy weather calls for one substantial hot dish, and here's an answer that's easy to prepare and to eat. Potato pancakes with spicy apple sauce. Six potatoes, 2 well-beaten eggs, 1½ tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon grated onion. Wash and pare the potatoes. Dry them thoroughly and then grate rather coarsely. (There should be a 2 cups). Beat eggs and add. Add remaining ingredients and mix. Bake on lightly greased hot griddle, same as other pancakes. Spread with butter and serve at once with spicy apple sauce.

Y.P. Societies

Initiation Service—Ten new members were admitted to the St. John's A.Y.P.A. in an initiation service held at the last meeting—Betty Townsend, Joy-Wilkinson, Kay Pollard, Shirley Fildes, Dorothy, Prescott, Ruth Stone, Yvonne Ailes, Isabel McKay, Yvonne Yeates and Fred Holmes. Margery Simmonds conducted the candlelit ceremony, assisted by Anne Burr, Norma Balfour, Frances McNeil, Cora Manton and Shirley Andrews. Rev. George Biddle addressed the meeting. Robin Stretton, Jean Cann, Jean Clark, Edith Stanley and Ross Brown were special guests. Corporate communion will be held at 8 on Sunday, followed by a fellowship breakfast in the church hall.

Plans Made For All-Out Welcome Home for Scottish

Although the arrival home of 1st Battalion, The Canadian Scottish Regiment, is a month off—Dec. 29—plans for the "welcome home" reception were near completion.

Members of the provincial government, Victoria City Council and officers of the services will be on hand when the Vancouver Island regiment disembarks from the C.P.R. boat in the Inner Harbor to march to Bay Street Armories, home of the regiment.

The Scots will leave Southampton, Canada-bound, on Dec. 19, and are scheduled to arrive at Halifax on Dec. 24 and the C.P.R. station in Vancouver at 8.30 in the morning of Dec. 29. En route to Victoria during their cross-Canada trip, the regiment will be honored at Moose Jaw, Sask., and Winnipeg, Man., by branches of the regimental association. "Winnipeg and Regina Rifle Regiments, incidentally, are members with the Scottish in the 7th Canadian Infantry Brigade.

TO BE MET IN VANCOUVER

The battalion will be met by a Victoria delegation when the train pulls into Vancouver. It is also expected that all wounded members of the Scottish regiment in the Vancouver and

Resigns

Mrs. Kenneth Barr, who will retire from the secretariatship of the Council of Social Agencies and the Community Chest at the end of this year. Mrs. Barr served with the Council of Social Agencies a secretary since the first organization of the council in 1937, and regret at her decision was expressed by all members.

Shaughnessy Military Hospitals who possibly can, will attend to welcome the home-coming soldiers.

The unit will leave Vancouver by steamer for Victoria an hour after the train's arrival. With it will come the regimental pipe band, Scottish members at present stationed at Little Mountain and Pacific Command H.Q.

A navy escort will meet the boat on nearing Victoria. Coast Artillery will salute the returning veterans.

Two composite companies will meet the unit on disembarkation. These will be made up of: First, earlier repatriated members who fought with the Scottish through northwest Europe; second, men of the 1st and 2nd Battalions who were posted to any other units or formations overseas. Emphasis is placed on the "overseas" here.

Led by the Pipe Band, the parade will start off at 3. Behind the band will be Lt. Col. Cyril Wightman, E.D., commanding officer, and his staff, followed by "A" Company, a color party made up of the first composite company bearing the King's color and regimental colors of the 1st Battalion, then "B" and "C" Companies.

SALUTING BASE AT EMPRESS

Saluting base will be in front of Empress Hotel. Lieut. Gov. W. C. Woodward will take salute. Others on the stand will include Maj. Gen. F. F. Worthington, G.O.C.-in-C. of Pacific Command; Premier John Hart, Mayor Percy George, commanding officers of all battalions in the regiment. Navy and air force officials have also been invited to attend.

Distinguished visitors, relatives of the returning men, members of the Women's Auxiliary and members of the 16th Battalion, C.E.F., of World War I will be in attendance by the stand.

Route of the parade is: Government Street to Fort, to Douglas, along the latter to Bay Street Armories. Buses will be employed to carry relatives and guests to the Armories.

At the Armories a guard of honor composed of 3rd Battalion members and the regimental cadets will welcome the unit. Then will follow short addresses by Premier Hart, Mayor George and Col. H. M. Urquhart, D.S.O., M.C., Croix de Guerre, A.D.C. to the King, colonel of the regiment.

After the ceremony, in which the 1st Battalion will hand over its colors to the 3rd Battalion for safekeeping, word "Dismiss!" will ring out and the soldiers will meet their waiting relatives.

The hard-working Women's Auxiliary, Red Cross and Canadian Legion will work together to give the out-of-town members who have no relatives a dinner. At night a dance will be given by the city at the Armories open to all members of the regiment and other ex-servicemen who wish to attend.

Plans for a reunion regimental dinner will be held sometime in January to which all members and ex-members are invited, but they are first asked to register their names with the regimental headquarters, Post Office Building.

SMALL HAWKS PURSUE PIGEONS, MOLES AND MICE

There are two "birds of prey" which I should like to speak about today. Both belong to the hawk family, and neither is very large. I am thinking of the merlin and the kestrel.

The merlin is a European bird, and looks a great deal like a sparrowhawk of this continent. When full grown, it is only from 10 to 13 inches long.

Merlins are the smallest hawks used in the sport known as "falconry." This sport was popular in the Middle Ages, and to this day there are people who follow it. The idea of it is to send out hawks to capture birds for their masters.

The larger hawks, or falcons, are employed to bring down the more important prey. Thus peregrine falcons chase such birds as gulls, plovers and curlews.

Merlins have a place in the sport because they are easy to handle. They can be tamed quickly, and they soon learn to go after game for their owners. Pigeons and partridges are captured by these little hawks.

Almost as small as the merlins are the kestrels. Kestrels range in length from 12 to 15 inches. Kestrels are of little use in the sport of falconry. They will attack small birds, but their instinct leads them to feed chiefly on such furry animals as field mice and moles. They also capture frogs, lizards and insects.

A special name used in Great Britain for the kestrel is "windhover." This name grew from the fact that the bird likes to hover in the air while gazing at the ground. Beating its wings fast enough to keep its position, the kestrel waits until it spies a field mouse or other victim. Then it makes a dive to seize its prey.

A British family kept a kestrel as a pet for several months. The bird was allowed full freedom. Flying away in the morning, it would return through an open window in the evening. At dinner time it would perch on the shoulder of a member of the family, and would be fed a few pieces of meat. All went well until the kestrel made a mistake about the kind of meat it should eat, and pecked at one of the persons at the table.

The DOCTOR Says:

SURGERY LESSENS HIP FRACTURES' DANGER

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

Hip fractures usually are located in that portion of the femur (thigh bone) which connects the round end with the bone proper. These injuries, common in older persons, once meant a bed-ridden patient or one with a poor chance for recovery. Thanks to developments in orthopedic surgery, this has been changed.

Hip fractures follow falls from tripping on a rug or falling and bumping the side of the hip. Women are more apt to be injured than men. As women grow older the bones in the hip region tend to become softer and are more easily fractured. All hip injuries should be examined with X-ray even though the patient is able to get up and walk without too much difficulty, as the fracture may be impacted and not show any way for several days.

HIP IS NAILED

Patients with hip fractures usually are in shock and this condition must be treated before any attempt is made to set the fracture. Casts seldom are used today as proper healing is twice as likely if the broken hip is nailed together.

Under special anesthesia the bones are placed in proper position and a nail driven through the neck of the femur into the head of the bone. Steel pins also may be inserted. Nails or pins can be removed after healing occurs if they are a source of irritation. In a few days the patient may sit up, ride in a wheel chair or walk with crutches, but there must be no weight bearing for some time.

Fractures of the hip heal through formation of callous and its conversion into bone, in from four to six months. Failure results from difficulty in bringing the fractured ends together or from too great stress developing at the fracture line after walking. This shearing force is produced by muscle pull and by the weight of the body, and may be so great that the fracture has to be reset or a special operation performed.

BONE GRAFT POSSIBLE

Sometimes a piece of fractured bone is separated from its blood supply and dies. Given sufficient time, new bone will grow into the piece and heal. It may be necessary to insert a peg of bone from the tibia (shin bone) and re-nail the bone.

Elderly patients with fractured hips require special nursing care and encouragement. Healing is slower than other fractures because of the age of the patient and severity of the injury. The hip joint may develop arthritis as a result of irritation from the fracture.

Britain Plans Huge Electrical Program

LONDON (CP)—Harold Hobson, chairman of Britain's central electricity board, announced Wednesday a five-year expansion program in which £150,000,000 ($667,500,000) will be spent for generating stations.

Mr. Hobson said the program would increase electrical output by 8,000,000,000 to 10,000,000,000 units a year, of which more than half would be used in private homes.

At least £300,000,000 is to be spent on transmission and distributing systems, Mr. Hobson said.

Search for Boy Moves to Victoria

Missing from his Vancouver home for over a month, 13-year-old Robert (Bobby) Martin is the subject of a widespread search by police, and today his parents believed he might possibly be in Victoria or on Vancouver Island, and appealed for assistance from residents of the city and districts.

Mrs. D. E. Martin, told the Times. "We are hopeful of hearing news of Bobby and wait daily for that end."

When last seen, Bobby was wearing a red shirt, wine colored sweater, brown windbreaker with blue check front, black denim pants, black socks, black boots and was bareheaded.

Beret Taken From Soldier As He Embraced Mother

While Gnr. George E. Botting, just home from the war after two and a half years' service in Europe, was embracing his mother as she greeted him at the wharf, someone, believed to be a souvenir hunter, crept up from behind and snatched his beret.

His mother, Mrs. G. E. Botting, 1294 Rockland Avenue, related the incident today.

She feels very keenly about it and asks the person who took the beret to return it to her son. It was a beret of the Montgomery type. George Botting joined the army when he was 19 years old and has four and a half years' service behind him, two of which he served in Canada with the 2nd Medium Battery Regiment. On his arrival overseas he was transferred to the 8th Army, and fought in Italy, Holland, Belgium and through to Germany.

Nelson born, he was educated in Victoria schools, McKenzie Avenue and Mount High.

Sports Mirror

BY PETE SALLAWAY

SHOULD other clubs in the National Hockey League ever decide to adopt Lester Patrick's system of goalie substitution that has marked New York Rangers' games, this season, just think of the headaches in store for the poor referees and official scorers. First of all, in a high-scoring game it doesn't promise to be too much fun keeping track of what goalie was in that net at the time of each goal, in addition to other chores. And if some ambitious team should decide to ring in more than two goalies, the scorekeeper is liable to figure he has experienced a perfectly good nightmare.

THEN AGAIN there is likely to be plenty of confusion in trying to determine who wins the Vezina trophy, awarded annually to the goalkeeper who has had the least number of goals scored on him. Up to the present this has been a simple task as barring a broken leg or a sudden trip to the showers after a poor exhibition, a goalie usually stays in there steadily and the topnotchers take the entire season in stride. It gives every promise of winding up as a complicated job of juggling statistics of number of minutes played, number of shots on goal, number of goals allowed and what not.

SPEAKING of hockey scoring it is interesting to note the decided drop in the number of assists being awarded in big time hockey this season. It will be remembered that Red Dutton, N.H.L. president, issued a warning to referees to award assists on goals "only where they are really earned." Dutton also took it upon himself to criticize official scorers about throwing assists around indiscriminately. He left all authority with the referees and took away from scorers the privilege of adding assists after a game is over.

IN 34 GAMES this season there were 223 assists granted on almost the same number of goals, 222, while in the first 35 games of last season, there were 350 assists or 276 goals of almost one and a quarter the number of goals. Or, if you care for statistics, an average of 10 assists per game last season to six and a half this year. Figures also show that there have been fewer goals scored this year, an average of approximately six and a half per game as compared to eight last season. Of the 10 leading scorers at this time last season, only three Bill Mosienko, Sylvester Skerries and Maurice Richard had gathered more goals than assists. Under Dutton's new ruling only three, Mosienko, Alex Kaleta and Elmer Lach have picked up more assists than goals.

Dickey Plans To Quit Baseball In Active Capacity

MEMPHIS (AP)—Lt. William M. (Bill) Dickey expects to doff his navy blue in a couple of months, but says he probably won't replace them with the familiar mask and shin guards. At 38, New York Yankees veteran catcher is planning to retire from active play. "I haven't made any plans yet," the drawling Arkansan asserted today, "but I doubt that I'll do any more catching. "I haven't played any baseball in two years, you know, and that's a long layoff for an old guy like me."

Dickey has just returned after serving 15 months as athletic director of the United States naval program at Pearl Harbor. He expects his discharge around the first of the year. "I helped organize baseball and a lot of other sports out in the Pacific," Dickey said. "I was kept so busy I didn't get a chance to play myself."

He said he was not sure he would stay in baseball, but added: "I'd like to, if I could find the right spot."

The strapping receiver began his career with the hometown team at Little Rock in 1925. In 1928 he joined the Yankees and then followed 16 stout years with one of the game's most fabulously successful teams. Dickey played in eight world series and 10 times was named a member of the American League's all-star team. He caught in 100 or more games for 13 consecutive seasons.

In 1943, his last season with the Yankees, he played in 85 games and hit .351.

High School Squads In Scoreless Draw

It was a tough battle Wednesday afternoon at Victoria High School grounds when Victoria and Oak Bay High Schools of the Victoria Rugby Union intermediate league fought to a scoreless draw.

Oak Bay, leaders in the league, and selected to represent Victoria in the interhigh schools home-and-home series against the Vancouver High School winner, were not up to their usual standard in form, while Joe Roberts' fifteen was definitely on.

Both teams maintained stalwart defenses at their goal lines. Oak Bay was strong during most of the first half but were turned back every time. Play swung end to end in the latter part of the session.

Roberts' Victoria squad hammered heavily at Oak Bay's defense in the second half, which saw dusk settling in and made it difficult for the players to see the ball, but for all their pressure were unable to penetrate. Oak Bay rallied in the closing minutes and almost crashed into the scoring picture from a penalty kick.

Jockey Gordon Richards Still Keen At 41

MARLBOROUGH, Wilt., Eng. (AP)—There is a little man, no bigger than a pint of cider, who lives in a big gabled house hereabouts, and is reported to make more money in a year than the Prime Minister and Winston Churchill put together. "And why not?" they ask proudly, at the neighborhood pub. "Could either of them ride a horse like Gordie Richards?"

No jockey in British history has been able to ride like Gordon Richards, who recently brought home his 3,000th winner and thereby established a mark that no rider of his generation is within sight of equalling.

He is a confident, smiling little man—his weight never tops 114 or falls below 110—with a steady eye, a body like a whipcord and strong, sensitive hands that a violinist, or a pickpocket might envy.

"I keep 'em soft," says Gordie, "gentleman farmer and pigeon fancier in his spare time," "by never doing any work with 'em."

"Work" to him doesn't include riding 900 to 1,000 horses a year and bringing at least 100 of them as winners. He has been champion British jockey for 18 of the last 20 years—one year he was out sick—and has held the all-time record for winners since 1943.

Before the war cut all jockeys' earnings, Richards was estimated to have made well over £10,000 ($45,000) a year. Some reckoned his income at more than twice that figure. Prime Minister Attlee's salary is £10,000. Mr. Churchill's £16,000.

Richards rides to work in a big black £5,000 ($25,000) limousine and until the war broke out he liked to go to Switzerland for the winter sports, but friends say much of his income is salted away for his wife and three youngsters.

A Shropshire lad and the son of a miner, Gordon slid into the saddle from a clerk's stool at the age of 16. He is now 41, an age when many a rider has long since grown fat and wheezy.

"I'll retire when I've stopped riding winners," he says, although it's doubtful if he would quit then unless he had a Derby victory to his credit—the one turf distinction that has eluded him.

Hunting and Angling

By "CAP" THORSEN

Beacon Hill and Macdonald Parks and numerous other "forbidden to shoot" localities are spots that make nimrod's mouths water these days with their heavy populations of ducks—mallards, wigwags, teal, canvasbacks, pintail and bluebills.

Windy weather is usually heralded with joy by duck hunters because it drives a lot of the waterfowl sitting out in the Straits in to more sheltered waters.

While the gusty weather of Sunday and Monday did exactly that there was a catch to it. The tides are wrong just now. A great many of the duck family are not divers and feed on the tidal flats during low tides, but at the present time the flats are only revealed at nights when shooting is definitely out, reports Roger Monteith.

Duck bags have generally been poor.

Several anglers ventured out to try for grise at Saanich Inlet Sunday. The wind, however, defeated them. Not many got beyond the first point to the productive waters around Bamerton. But the Thomas Day and Smith angling trio managed to get out for an hour and pulled in four. Abalone spoons are still the grise favorite in lures.

No deer were weighed-in in the Sylvester U-Drive island buck competition over the weekend. Competition closes Friday night at dark. Besides the bag of four brown, it down by father and son, Mat and Jimmy Ball, 1681 Harriet Street, Gordon Harris scored a buck on a hunting trip with Frawnie Morse and Denis Hagar. This was in the Cowichan country, where Tom Zaccarelli was also among the successful.

TO IMPORT QUAIL

I hear from a good authority that Attorney-General Maitland, who is very active in the propagation of fish and game in the province, plans to import a batch of California quail to put new blood into the local flocks. Quail were "untouchables" this year owing to their scarcity—lots of hunters blaming this on domestic cats gone wild and harsh winters. However, as a result of the closed season there are quite a number in evidence now. A mild winter along with the imported stock should result in sufficient quail to allow an open season next year.

A. J. Whitmore, director of western fisheries, Ottawa, is in town now and will be interviewed by representatives of local fish and game organizations. Representatives have several pressing matters that require his aid to remedy. There is the low water situation each fall in Goldstream that wrecks the salmon migration to the spawning grounds and the need of fish ladders in the Mill Bay streams running from Shawanigan Lake.

A good attendance was enjoyed at the Victoria Skeet and Gun Club's shooting grounds on Albert Head Road Sunday, with some 2,000 targets being trapped. Good scores were chalked up with scatter guns by Ernie Todd, Dr. Bechtel, Wallace H. McMillan, J. Wenger, Russell Horton, Dr. E. S. Tait, also Mr. Sudbury and his son, Sandy, from Duncan.

League Basketball

Dominoes Win Easily

Victoria Dominoes made it three-straight wins over K.V.'s, their only opposition in local "AV" league hoop play, Wednesday night, when they administered a 72 to 38 beating at Victoria High School gym.

It was another "easy one" for the Dominoes. To give the K.V.'s credit, although completely out-classed by the experienced several-times Dominion champions, they fought hard all the way.

Displaying the remarkable shooting skill that has resulted in mainland experts to regard them "as the hottest thing in basketball" on the B.C. senior front, Dominoes were soon well out in front, and stayed there. The champions played the Baker, Jackson, Wright, Straith and McKeachie quintette for most of the game, but Porky Andrews went in to take over from George Straith in the closing minutes of the third quarter when the latter twisted his ankle.

Jackson and Baker led the Domino scorers with 30 and 22 points, respectively, while Anderson, Ransom and Kay topped the losing side.

The preliminary games on the card saw senior "B" men and women's teams in action. The men's tussle, resulted in Eagles taking a 43 to 34 decision over H.M.C.S. Uganda, with Gordon Hartley and Stan Davies potting 29 points between them for the winners. Eagles were 14 points in front at the end of the third session. Uganda fought them on an even footing in the last 10 minutes, but the final score saw the winners still with their 14 margin.

Women's fixture brought together two teams that heretofore had a winless record, but resulted in Rookies, coached by Bob Whyte, making their first impression on the standings' board with a 31 to 20 win over Walter Seamans' Unitys. Blackley led the rookie scorers, while Godrich was tops for Unitys.

Teams and scorers follow: Dominoes—Andrews 1, Baker 22, Jackson 30, Wright 8, Straith 10, McKeachie 1.

Boston Beat Rangers For Fourth Straight

Subject to change at short notice—Boston Bruins today unquestionably are the hottest team in the National Hockey League.

They staked claim to that title last night, defeating New York Rangers 5 to 1 before a 13,900 crowd in Boston Garden.

The proud team of prewar years thus achieved its fourth straight victory and cemented the longest undefeated record owned by any N.H.L. team so far this season. Bruins suffered their last setback 20 days ago when Montreal Canadiens took a 5 to 3 verdict.

After a slow start which saw them suffer three losses in their first six games, Bruins entrenched themselves solidly in fourth place and went to work. They started the victory skell with a 7 to 1 decision over Rangers Nov. 11 and in two games prior to last night's contest whipped Canadiens 3 to 0 and Toronto Maple Leafs 5 to 3.

Last night's conquest, fashioned principally on a three-goal surge by youthful Bill Shill, shunted Bruins into a third-place tie with Chicago Black Hawks. The deadlocked clubs are a point behind second-place Detroit Red Wings and three in arrears of Canadiens.

RANGERS OPEN SCORING

Rangers still bogged in a fifth-place stalemate with Leafs, provided the only goal of the first period when Mac Colville deflected a shot by Pat Egan on a play launched by Edgar Laprade. That stroke finished Rangers and Bruins took over at 1:36 of the second period, Jack McGill tying the score on a pass from Woody Dumart.

The remaining four Boston goals all came from the rookie line on which Shill teams with Armand (Bep) Guidolin and Dan Gallinger. Shill tallied twice, listed at 15:16 and came back three minutes later to finish a thrust sparked by Gallinger and Guidolin.

Late in the third period Gallinger, with Egan and Guidolin, made it 4 to 1 for Bruins and Shill closed the scoring 27 seconds later on a pass from Gallinger. Both Gallinger and Shill had three scoring points for the evening in a game featured by Murray Henderson's defensive display in front of Paul Bibeault.

Veteran Bill Cowley, still a menace in his 11th season, sought vainly for the 500th scoring point of his career. He was held off the scoresheet by Chuck Raynor, who played the entire game despite a cut over his left eye suffered in early action.

MISERABLE FROM A COLD?

Do This Quick for Relief

If you are sneezing and snuffling from a cold... all stuffed-up, with your nose and throat raw and sore—combat this distress, as thousands do, by gargling with new Pepsodent Antiseptic.

The reason it's recommended is this: Standard laboratory tests prove new Pepsodent Antiseptic kills millions of germs that go with colds. The very type of germs that many medical authorities say often heighten the misery and prolong the effects of a cold.

Isn't it only common sense then to gargle with new Pepsodent Antiseptic at first sign of a cold? What better way to combat millions of germs that swarm on mouth and throat surfaces as far back as you can reach... back where illness often strikes first!

So treat a cold this sensible way: Get plenty of rest, avoid exposure, dress warmly, drink plenty of liquids... and gargle frequently with new Pepsodent Antiseptic. See if you don't relieve discomfort almost at once!

Awards for First War Board

W. C. Mainwaring, seated with Mayor Percy George, and members of the first war emergency board standing in the mayor's office, left to right: Ex-Ald. W. Lloyd Morgan, Insp. A. H. Bishop, Ex-Ald. Archie Wills, Ald. J. A. Worthington, and Ex-Mayor Andrew McGavin.

The original members of the first War Emergency Board, which was formed immediately after the declaration of war in September, 1939, were honored this afternoon when W. C. Mainwaring, chairman of the Provincial Advisory Council on Civilian Protection, presented them with certificates in recognition of their services at the mayor's office.

Ex-Mayor Andrew McGavin, Inspector A. H. Bishop, Ald. J. A. Worthington, ex-Alderman Archie Wills and ex-Alderman W. Lloyd Morgan received the thanks of Mr. Mainwaring for their job in organizing protection against any war emergency which might arise in the course of the war.

Twenty committees were set up and the organization completed in every detail to handle any contingency. Fortunately for the city of Victoria, it was never necessary to use these excellently organized facilities, Mr. Mainwaring said.

Only two groups remain to receive their certificates for services—the Eagles, who policed the metropolitan area, and the Chinese wardens.

First meeting of the original War Emergency Board was held on Sept. 5, 1939, Insp. A. H. Bishop, A.P.P. head, recalled, and this original group embraced representatives from Saanich, Esquimalt and Oak Bay.

Capt. William Ellis was appointed head of the newly-formed organization and held office until March, 1942.

On May 22, 1941, months before Pearl Harbor, the first trial blackout was held, and May 24, 1940, a "dress rehearsal" of A.R.P. work was held at Wilfrids. This was the first such show ever staged in Canada.

With Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, a complete blackout was imposed on the city Dec. 8 which remained until Dec. 11, when it was lifted. March, 1942, Insp. Bishop took over the duties of civilian protection officer, and one of his first tasks was to have three ambulances donated for the work of the A.R.P. These ambulances have now been donated to the Solarium, the police force and St. John Ambulance.

By March 24, 1942, all details for evacuation of the city in the event of air raids or attack had been made and all roads mapped with the military authorities. It was at this time that the provincial advisory council under Mr. Mainwaring was set up, and the central control room established under the police station.

In April, 1942, emergency shelters were named and the legion of frontiersmen to assist in police work installed. In May

Seeks Action On Metchosin Water

C. E. Whitney-Griffiths of Metchosin has written the City Council asking that some definite action be taken on his request of June 4 regarding the water supply situation in Metchosin and Albert Head.

The matter was referred to the water board for report, he recalled in his letter, and he is anxious to know the effects of the report.

"I must point out to you that this is a very serious matter for our districts and must surely merit more attention than appears to have been given it, unless silence means some action is pending," he writes.

He stresses that Victoria is responsible for supplying water in a 20-mile area, and "the very future of these areas depends upon your active interest and willingness to shoulder the responsibilities very obviously laid upon you."

He presses for an early extension of the water system to properly serve these areas.

The matter will be considered by the water board at a meeting Friday afternoon, Ald. J. A. Worthington, chairman of the board, said.

of that year the sirens were installed and regular air raid precaution practices begun.

Nov. 1942, the dim-out went into effect, which was lifted in Oct. 1943. November saw the arrival of the first shipment of civilian gas masks, which were distributed to all schoolchildren.

In February of 1943 the first blood bank was started at St. Joseph's Hospital, and in April the war gas instructor's course was inaugurated at Jubilee Hospital, with decontamination facilities provided in one of the local cleaning plants.

The final job which the A.R.P.

wardens stood ready to handle was the possible damage from Jap balloons. The organization received word of them Feb. 28 of this year and by May 22 had organized auxiliary fire fighting units to fight any forest fires that might have been caused by balloons. June 29 was the first report of any balloon being sighted in this year.

Sept. 5 of this year the stand-down order was given, and 3,337 wardens in Victoria alone relinquished their posts. In the five years of its life the A.R.P. grew from 700 members in Jan., 1940, to the 3,337 in Jan. 1945.

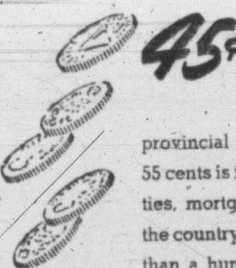

Dollars are getting back into 'civvies' too

Such "public works" are well named, for they do provide work for vast numbers of the public. Dollars so employed create thousands of jobs, build up the country, and at the same time offer the utmost security for policyholders' funds.

HUNDREDS OF MILLIONS of dollars have gone to war in the last six years in the shape of investments in Victory Bonds. Life Insurance Companies have invested for their policyholders over one and one-half billion dollars in Victory.

Life Insurance dollars will soon be getting back into "civvies" again. As full peacetime conditions return Life Insurance funds will again finance such socially useful enterprises as the building of highways, bridges, harbours, elevators, etc.

This portion of every dollar invested by Life Insurance companies is in bonds issued by the federal and provincial governments. The remaining 55 cents is invested in other bonds, securities, mortgages, etc. Besides developing the country, Life Insurance funds for more than a hundred years have guarded the homes of Canada from want and privation.

Falconer Plant Reports Boom In Pleasure Craft Building

In the midst of the gloom of impending unemployment among shipyard workers in Victoria there is one bright light shining. It comes from Falconer Marine Industries Ltd., where Manager Arnold Moran said today: "I have never seen so much work offered as there is at this time."

In the Falconer plant there are now four 57-foot packers under construction, and the company has been asked if it can handle four more. There are also three 42-foot west coast commercial fish boats and a 38-foot halibut boat under construction.

Estimates are now being made on 10 36-foot sailing yachts for an American firm, and a 40-foot sailing yacht for an individual American customer. Figures are being prepared for a 42-foot deepsea pleasure craft for yet another American, and the shipyard is commencing construction of a 33-foot, a 30-foot and a 26-foot cabin cruiser. The keels are being laid down for a 22-foot, and an 18-foot open pleasure boat.

Estimates are being made on six 36-foot pleasure cruisers, and the firm has just received orders from a Vancouver shipyard for three sets of life boats for three coastal vessels being built there. There are four lifeboats in each set, three manually operated and one powered.

When war contracts ceased, Falconer Marine Industries Ltd. dropped the payroll from a peak of 220 employees to 65. The number of employees there is now up to 94, and Mr. Moran said the firm was taking men on all along.

It was the firm's policy, he said, to employ returned men whenever possible. It was unfortunate, however, he added, there were not more skilled shipwrights among the veterans. He has found the veterans who have been employed have been doing exceptionally well and are putting in a really good day's work.

The need now, Mr. Moran said, was for real shipwrights, and the more of them who could be found, the more veterans could be employed to work with them as unskilled or semi-skilled workers who would gradually become efficient in the shipbuilding industry.

Victoria Has Most Street Lights Per Mile On West Coast

Victoria has more lighting units per mile of street than any other city on the Pacific coast, with the exception of San Francisco, Kenneth Reid, street lighting superintendent, stated in a report he presented to the street lighting committee Wednesday afternoon. Ald W. H. Davies, committee chairman, said.

In his report, which is based on 1943 figures, Victoria is listed as having 150.5 miles of streets, a population of 47,837, an area of 7.5 miles. In this area Victoria has 2,300 street lighting units. Mr. Reid said, giving 15.25 units per mile of street and 300.6 units per square mile.

San Francisco has 27.4 units per mile of streets and 555 units per square mile, while Seattle, which comes third, has only 12.75 lighting units per street mile and 279.3 per square mile. Los Angeles has 11.25 lighting units per mile of street and Portland only 9.2.

In relation to the population, Mr. Reid said Victoria ranks highest with 48 lighting units per 1,000 population, San Francisco and Los Angeles 39 units and Portland 29.

COSTS LOWER

Victoria comes out tops in cost per capita, too, Mr. Reid pointed out, with the annual levy being only 62 cents, while in San Francisco it is $1.28, in Portland 75 cents and in Seattle 92 cents. He attributed the wide disparity to the fact that Victoria owns its street lighting system.

In addition Mr. Reid told the committee that the 100 new street lighting units which are awaiting installation would probably be put up early in the new year, the delay being caused by the lack of copper wire. At the present time he said, he has none at all in stock, and the manufacturers can promise none until the new year and then only a limited supply.

Extensive plans for the complete renovation of Victoria's system, to modernize it and provide more efficient lighting are in the process of being drawn up and will be ready for consideration soon, Ald. Davies declared.

Jobless May Apply Saturday Afternoon

To accommodate several hundred shipyard workers whose discharge from Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd. becomes effective this afternoon, the Victoria office of National Selective Service will remain open on Saturday afternoon from 1 to 5 P. M. A. Mudge, manager, said today.

The office, usually closed on Saturday afternoon, will be open to take registrations for employment and initial claims for unemployment insurance benefits.

While 900 were given one-week notice last Thursday, some of these have been re-employed by the V.M.D. which has revised its labor requirements during the week.

Fall Assizes May Continue for Week

Sentences reserved until the end of the Fall Assizes by Mr. Justice J. M. Coady, including that of Charles Kinney, found guilty of manslaughter, will not be pronounced until late next week, according to indications today.

Crown Prosecutor Robert Harvey, K.C., said he would not be prepared to proceed in another case before Monday, and the jury panel was excused until that time. Mrs. M. Finmore, charged with retaining stolen goods, was on trial today and three cases remain to be tried before the assizes end.

Detective Percy Richards testified in the second day of Mrs. Finmore's trial that she had assisted police officers in a search of her home on May 18. He identified articles which he testified had been found at her home, including an electric sewing machine, vacuum cleaner, statuette and clock.

Auctioneer A. J. Maynard, called by the prosecution, evaluated several of the exhibits.

Canadian Occupation Army Back By 1947

LONDON (CP)—A good chance exists that the Canadian Army Occupation Force in Germany as constituted at present will be repatriated by the end of next year, it is understood here.

While no quotable authority is available, it is learned from a high authority that sometime in 1946 is the target for the removal from Europe of all Canadian troops enlisted for the duration. After that time, it is expected that the Canadian occupation force—if it still exists—will consist of permanent force personnel.

Juvenile Burglars Blamed for Series of Robberies In Oak Bay

Burglars have been active in outside districts of Victoria as well as in the city, it was revealed today by Oak Bay police, who reported 17 cases of breaking and entering had occurred in the municipality in the last six weeks.

Two burglaries occurred on Hampshire Road Monday night and approximately 15 other cases of breaking and entering of homes occurred in the municipality within the last six weeks.

Homes of Stanley Peden, 277 Hampshire Road, and R. Alford, 990 Hampshire Road, were broken into Monday night, and thieves got away with a considerable amount of jewelry including a watch, rings, pearls, and expensive cigarette case from the former. Nothing was missing from the Alford home.

Mr. Peden said he since had heard that many houses had been entered recently in the neighborhood, and had he known, would have been more careful about leaving the house during the evenings.

Chief Hugh Reston said the Peden house had been ransacked and contents of drawers had been dumped all over the floors.

The burglary of the Alford home took place while the occupants were moving into the house. One load of furniture had arrived and Mr. Alford had left the house to get another load. It was then that the burglars went to work.

Two other houses on Hampshire Road were burglarized recently, also two houses on Victoria Avenue running next to Hampshire.

Chief Reston said two juveniles aged 16 and 15 years, had been breaking into houses in Oak Bay and the city since September, and that they were caught and charged with entering five houses, on Nov. 7. They had been sentenced to terms at the Boys' Industrial School in Vancouver.

Four other cases of breaking and entering in Oak Bay had been attributed to them, since their trial, he said, and added that the same boys had been charged with breaking and entering 18 homes in the city.

"Many people have not reported their homes being burglarized because they did not know," the chief said. In one instance, $160 worth of equipment had been stolen and the owners did not know until the police had found it and taken it to them.

"We still have a lot of unclaimed property which has been stolen from homes," he said.

The most recent cases of burglary were not blamed on juveniles and the department was busy on investigations, Chief Reston said.

The five homes involved in the burglary charges against the juveniles were those of: G. McComachie, 2661 Estevan Avenue; J. Hammond, 2411 Haron Street; Miss H. Bradshaw, 2630 Beech Drive; T. C. Parrott, 1535 Prospect Place, and Miss Gertrude Snider, 2768 Caddboro Bay Road.

Work Continuing Here On Engines Of Amenity Ship

Mechanical work on engines of S.S. Agamemnon has not been canceled, although no instructions have as yet been received regarding her disposal, H. S. Hammill, general manager at Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., said today. Until cancellation of the contract last week by the British Admiralty, the Agamemnon was undergoing conversion to an amenity ship for the Royal Navy.

Mr. Hammill said work would continue on her engines, but that the vessel would not be capable of going to sea until some work was done on her superstructure. No instructions had been received regarding this, he added.

OWNERS NEED SHIP

Shipyard workers at V.M.D., however, have hopes that instructions will come through for re-conversion of the Agamemnon to a passenger ship. It is understood the Blue Funnel Line, original owners of the vessel, have been placing urgent requests with government shipping administration for return of the vessel to its line.

As British shipyards at present are busy with whole ship construction, it is considered unlikely here that they would want to take on the task of re-converting the Agamemnon, which indicates a strong possibility the contract for new work on her will be placed in the Victoria shipyard.

In the meantime, Cmdr. J. Hunter, R.N., announces work continuing in Vancouver on conversion of S.S. Menestheus to a Royal Navy amenity ship.

Jehovah Follower Charged for Evading Military Call-up

"It has never been my desire to run away. It is our endeavor to be recognized as ministers," declared James W. Patterson of the Jehovah's Witnesses, in conducting his own defense on a charge of failing to report for military service when ordered to do so before Magistrate Henry Hall in City Police Court this morning.

He earlier pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Claude L. Harrison, city prosecutor, read a statement from the registrar of the division which stated the accused had been found medically fit to undergo military training, had been called upon, and on failing to appear had been charged accordingly.

Patterson said that he made application for exemption on the grounds that ministers of the gospel were exempt. He said he had not received an answer and was still waiting for it.

The case was remanded until next Tuesday morning to give the accused time to peruse several judgments on similar cases.

Building permits were issued for the erection of a five-room house at 1028 Clare Street, $850, and for a five-room house at 1611 Jubilee Avenue, $4,850. Wm. E. Eby was given a permit to erect a five-room $3,200 dwelling at 1747 Lillian Road.

Minor Thefts Are Reported to Police

Several minor thefts, one breaking and entering case and a report of "prowlers" were the main items reported to Victoria City Police Wednesday night and early this morning.

Police were notified that while the rugby game was in progress at Victoria High grounds Wednesday afternoon articles were stolen from the High School locker room. This included clothing valued at $115 the property of Dave Trace, 1733 St. Ann Street, and a black zipper bag the property of Reg Castner.

Bob Duncan informed police at midnight Wednesday that a window had been broken in Cunningham's Drug Store, corner of Port and Douglas. Constables McKenzie and Barlow attended and found a small hole had been kicked in one of the front windows. Nothing was reported missing.

Detective Louis Callan this morning attended at Owen Fowler's store at 734 Yates Street to investigate a breaking and entering. He found an axe had been used to smash in the basement door. The only missing items were a Bank of Nova Scotia cheque book and an old Spanish revolver, loaded with blanks.

C. Moggridge, 345 Chester Street, reported to police Wednesday night that prowlers were around his place. They had gone when Constables Holmes and Wilson arrived.

P. H. Walker, 743 Selkirk Avenue, telephoned police that the right fog light had been stolen from his auto parked on Cormorant Street. Charles Henley reported a stolen raincoat from Jubilee Hospital.

Provincial police report that a 1940 Ford sedan No. 23-276, property of John Jurkevich, was stolen Wednesday evening at Nanaimo. Also in the car was a black wallet containing $6 and a registration card.

Frank Horne, H.M.C.S. Ontario, reported to police his wallet containing his registration card and $64 was lost or stolen early today.

Pool Drowning Was Accidental

Death from drowning was established by a post-mortem conducted by Dr. J. H. Moore on the body of Robert Alexander Scott, 72-year-old veteran of World War I, who was found in a fish pond in his garden by Saanich police Wednesday morning. Coroner E. C. Hart said today.

The coroner said the aged man had been ill suffering from pneumonia and was probably delirious at the time of death. It was believed he wandered into the garden during the early morning hours and accidentally fell into the pool.

An inquest would not be held, the coroner said.

13 Drown in Wave

BOMBAY (AP)—Thirteen persons were drowned today by a tidal wave which swept the beaches at Bombay.

The tidal wave was believed to be the result of the earthquake reported Wednesday somewhere under the sea. Observatory experts placed the centre of the quake in the Arabian Sea at a point equidistant from Karachi and Bombay off western India.

Eisenhower Scores French Govt. For Slowing Control In Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower, retiring commander of United States forces in Europe, today criticized the French government for hampering the Allied Control Council, and urged early establishment of central Germany administrative machinery.

In a report summarizing the situation in Germany during October, before he left for home to become Chief of Staff of the United States Army, Gen. Eisenhower cited the "potential dangers of unrest and disease this winter."

He declared, however, there was "no immediate emergency, in the American and British zones as long as current rationing can be maintained."

Praising the British delegation for going along in council matters for the sake of unanimity, Gen. Eisenhower asserted: "There was no similar solution of the deadlock which prevents establishment of the central German administrative machinery provided for by the Potsdam agreement as necessary for the treatment of Germany as a single economic unit. French authorities in October maintained their opposition to this principle.

"On a number of other important matters, moreover, little progress was made during the month. A proposed law to authorize and encourage a federation of German trade unions on a national basis could not be adopted on account of French opposition."

While restlessness has been noticed in Germany, Gen. Eisenhower said that "there is no indication of any organized resistance, and the number of crimes of violence is, in the aggregate, very small."

10,000-Ton Increase Ordered in Quota For Herring Here

The 30,000-ton herring quota for Vancouver Island's lower east coast area of district No. 3 has been extended to 40,000 tons, it was learned here today as herring fishermen had probably already exceeded their original quota.

The total herring catch to last Saturday had been 33,295 tons, compared with 27,596 tons to the previous Saturday.

Of this total the lower east coast area of Vancouver Island produced 4,673 tons; last week, bringing the total catch for the season to last Saturday to 25,953 tons.

Catches for central area have been 189 tons, while Quathlaski area has produced 4,574 tons, upper east coast 1,752 tons and west coast of Vancouver Island 528 tons.

Except for a small amount for the domestic market, almost the entire catch is being canned either plain or in tomato sauce for the British Ministry of Food and Unrta. Total pack to date has been 650,559 cases.

Herring meal production has been 376 tons, and herring offal meal production has reached 2,202 tons. Production of herring oil is 54,382 gallons, while 222,336 gallons of herring offal have been extracted.

With the salmon season, best since 1942, nearing a close, only 4,307 cases were packed last week.

This brings the pack to last Saturday to 1,735,060 cases, compared with 1,097,538 cases packed during the 1944 season and 1,246,456 cases packed to Nov. 27, 1943. The pack to Nov. 28, 1942, was 1,802,502 cases.

Provincial Parley Nears Conclusion Of First Stage

OTTAWA (CP)—Work speeded up at the morning session of the Dominion-Provincial Conference co-ordinating committee today.

With a number of premiers getting ready to leave to keep other engagements, the probability of ending the present stage of discussions tonight or tomorrow was seen.

Prime Minister King described the morning session as "increasingly interesting and satisfactory."

If the meeting breaks up tonight or tomorrow it is likely some continuing sub-committee or committees will be established to carry on the work of hammering out an agreement on financial arrangements and division of responsibility between the federal and provincial governments.

These bodies would work pending reconvening of the premiers in the co-ordinating committee or perhaps the whole conference about January.

A January session to put the finishing touches to an agreement would enable that work to be done in time to permit the necessary legislation to be passed at the winter sessions of the legislatures and parliament.

U.S. Steelworkers Favor Strike 5-1 If Pay Not Raised

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Officials of the C.I.O. United Steel Workers of America held in their hands today authority to call a countrywide strike to enforce their demand for a $2-a-day pay raise.
The power was given by members of their union who voted in a National Labor Relations Board election Wednesday, favoring a strike nearly 5 to 1.
Unofficial, incomplete returns to the N.L.R.B. from hundreds of polling places in 27 states showed the workers voting 342,125 for, and only 70,639 against a strike.
There was no indication a strike would be called immediately or even in the near future.
Officials of the U.S.W.A. told their local leaders before the voting that a favorable ballot would not necessarily mean there would be a strike.
The election was the greatest N.L.R.B. vote ever undertaken in the United States, involving 766 plants and some 650,000 workmen, many thousands of whom did not cast ballots.

Auto Union Presses For Examining Board

The Automotive Maintenance Workers' Union meeting Wednesday night at the Labor Hall decided to press for provincial government legislation to require an examining board to pass on all auto mechanics.
The union has proposed the board operate under provincial government supervision. Unions here have sponsored this proposed Tradesmen's Qualification Act for some time.
Frank Nelson was named president of the union which chose William Burley as vice-president, Jack Frampton, secretary-treasurer, and Fred Parkinson, recording secretary.

Elected to the executive were George A. Wilkinson, George Jarvis, J. Sedgewick, Thomas Pickell, Forbes Irvine and George Reside.
The meeting drafted a telegram to send to Labor Minister Humphrey Mitchell urging early settlement of the Windsor Ford workers' strike.
Charles Chivers, candidate for alderman, in the civic election here, spoke briefly. Mr. Jarvis and Mr. Wilkinson reported on a meeting of the B.C. executive of the Trades and Labor Council in Vancouver.

U.B.C. Accepts Weir Resignation

VANCOUVER (CP) — Resignation of Dr. George M. Weir as head of the Department of Education in the University of B.C. has been approved by the Board of Governors.
No action has been taken by the board on naming a successor to Dr. Weir, who has assumed the post of B.C. Minister of Education, but it is understood unofficially at the university that Maxwell Cameron, Ph.D., will be given the position.
Dr. Cameron, author of the provincial report on education, has been acting head of the department for some years.

Ward Ratepayers Discuss Bus System

The Greater Victoria transportation issue was discussed Tuesday night at a meeting of the Saanich Ward One Ratepayers' Association, in the C.C.F. Hall.
Members of the association heard officials of the B.C. Electric Railway Company. Attending the meeting were: E. N. Horsey, general superintendent of the company, and H. Rowland Halls, traffic superintendent.
Members discussed the proposals for the unified transportation system as they affected Ward One, with particular reference to the service proposed in the Richmond Road and Forrester Road area. They expressed a wish for a connecting link between Mount Tolmie and Oak Bay, which would also provide a service to the Jubilee Hospital.
Mr. Horsey and Mr. Halls explained that while various concessions might be made at the current stage of the franchise negotiations, the final routes and territories served would be settled by the Greater Victoria transportation committee and the company with whom the franchise was eventually negotiated. Mr. Horsey said if his company got the franchise the present street railway system would be entirely eliminated.

WAR VETERANS' CORNER

VETERANS JOIN T.C.A.
Twenty-five per cent of the staff of Trans Canada Airlines are now veterans returned from active service overseas. T.C.A. has taken on as employees nearly 800 veterans, mostly from the R.C.A.F. They learn to be peace-time pilots, radio and teletype operators, passenger agents, traffic representatives and shop employees in a school at Winnipeg.
PRIORITIES ESTABLISHED
Local rehabilitation workers have found erroneous a rumor that veterans without overseas service have no priority in obtaining civil service jobs. It has been established that the order of priority for civil service jobs is first, disabled veterans; second, veterans who were on active service overseas; third, veterans with Canadian service only, and fourth, civilians.
MONTH TO REGAIN JOBS
Christmas Day is the deadline for members of the aircrew reserve in the last general release of Sept. 25 temporarily for reinstatement in their former jobs, the air force has announced. Employers have been asked to recognize the aircrew reserve buttons and certificates as the equivalent of discharge papers. The released personnel eventually will receive the General Service button and discharge papers.
NEED NOT TRANSFER
The Department of Veterans Affairs has warned ex-service men and women that they need not transfer ownership of homes now in their spouses' names in order to use re-establishment credit for repairs, modernization or purchase. This credit can be used for these purposes whether the dwelling is owned by the husband or the wife. Transferring the property would be needless trouble.

British Announce Complete Control Of Soerabaja Base

BATAVIA (AP) — The British command officially announced today the complete occupation of the Java naval base city of Soerabaja — the scene of bitter fighting in recent weeks between Indonesian Nationalists and British Indian troops — and said a local administration had been set up there under British control.
Military operations continued south of Soerabaja, where 12 Indonesian guns were knocked out Wednesday.
At Bandung, the summer capital 75 miles southeast of Batavia, the commander of the British 37th Brigade continued negotiations with Soetardjo, the Indonesian "governor" of West Java.
British authorities earlier had issued an ultimatum that any Indonesian found in the northern half of Bandung after noon today would be shot.

Iran Insurgents Abandon Attempt To Capture Tehran

TEHRAN (AP) — Azerbaijan insurgent forces, swerving suddenly in their push down the main railroad toward Tehran, today apparently had abandoned any attempt to march on the Iranian capital itself, but Iranian government troops maintained a vigilant watch in the capital.
An official Iranian government communique said Wednesday night a small force of Azerbaijanians was marching on the town of Resht, 15 miles from the Caspian Sea, after taking and evacuating the town of Takistan, the communique said, instead of continuing toward Kazvin — on the route to Tehran.
Meanwhile it was disclosed officially the Iranian government has received a note from the Soviet Embassy in reply to Iran's protest that its military forces were being impeded by Russian authorities. The contents of the Soviet reply were kept secret, but the best-informed sources described the note as unsatisfactory.
Reports from the Azerbaijan capital of Tabriz said elections for a national council were proceeding under the supervision of insurgent "democrats."

LONDON (CP) — An Iranian Embassy spokesman here said today the Soviet government had threatened to reinforce Red Army garrisons in northern Iran if Iranian troops were moved into that troubled region.

Japanese House Half Hearted About Keeping Emperor

TOKYO (AP) — Half-hearted applause greeted a suggestion in the Japanese Diet today that the Emperor system should be perpetuated under a Japanese-style democracy.
Premier Kijure Shidehara and one of Japan's leading reconstruction politicians, Ichiro Hatoyama, both voiced the opinion in an unprecedented legislative discussion in the House.
Hatoyama, Liberal Party leader, drew only polite applause when he said the "Emperor system must be retained" as bulwark against "possible dictatorships." Shidehara voiced agreement.
The Liberal leader demanded to know the limits of the government's contemplated democratization. The Premier replied with a definition of democracy as "representation of the will of the people."
This, Shidehara declared, was assured by freedom of thought, press and "equality of individuals."
FREEDOM FOR PRESS
Other developments in Japan today included the announcement that the House of Peers must break with ancient precedent and open its doors to the press at all sessions henceforth.
The ruling was issued today by the Japanese liaison section of S.C.A.P. (Supreme Commander, Allied Powers) in compliance with the wishes of Gen. MacArthur.
The reluctance of Japan's post-surrender government to get on with reforms until told to do specific things by MacArthur was pointed out today by the Japanese press.
"Has the government ever carried out a great reform without waiting for directives from Allied headquarters?" asked the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri Hochi in an editorial attack on Premier Kijure Shidehara's address to the Diet Wednesday.
The Asahi also noted Shidehara had merely recapitulated the occupied country's troubles whereas the people wanted to hear what was to be done about them.
One of the troubles, food, probably will reach the crisis stage by April and continue critical for three months, an Allied official said today. He cited Japanese estimates that food production is sufficient for 1,377.5 calories and 41 grams of protein a person daily as against government estimates that the minimum requirement is 2,160 calories, 76 grams.

10 Killed By Bandits at Turin

ROME (AP) — The Rome newspaper Il Giornale Mattino said in a dispatch from Turin today the bodies of 10 persons missing after a recent bandit raid on the Simona di Villerebasse estate near there had been found in a well on the estate.
Nine had been killed by blows on the head and the 10th was strangled, the dispatch said.
A reward of 500,000 lire ($5,000) has been offered for apprehension of the bandits.

To Get Timber Post

OTTAWA (CP) — Lt. Col. Douglas Roe, 46, of Vancouver, former commander of the Canadian Forestry Corps, has been appointed Canadian Government Timber Trade Commissioner to London, Trade Minister MacKinnon announced Wednesday night. Before proceeding to his post, Col. Roe will spend several months making a survey of timber conditions in eastern Canada and British Columbia.
He acted as British Columbia's Timber Trade Commissioner in the United Kingdom from 1934 to 1940. Joining the Canadian Forestry Corps in 1940, he became the commanding officer during the latter part of the war.

Nazis Planned To Destroy Camp

DACHAU, Germany (AP) — A U.S. military court heard today that the Nazis planned to destroy the Dachau concentration camp by bombing to prevent U.S. troops from capturing it.
Martin Weiss, one of 40 defendants on trial for atrocities, asserted Gauleiter Gieseler of nearby Munich planned the destruction. Gieseler later committed suicide.
Four former prisoners supported Weiss' testimony that he moderated punishment and improved conditions while he was Dachau commandant in 1942 and 1943.

'Murder, He Says' Comes to Dominion

It's "Murder, He Says," and poor Fred MacMurray ought to know what he's talking about for he's the star of the Paramount picture of the same name, arriving tomorrow at the Dominion Theatre. It's the dullest, dullest film ever committed to celluloid.

Marjorie Main is chief menace of the Fleagle fluke house, the Fleagles being the family which contrives to make Fred's life miserable. "Ma" Main has an uncomfortable mania for slashing lashes and crushing vases. Then there's Peter Whitney who plays the dual role of Mert and Bert, Ma's twin offspring. They've inherited her habit for raising a rumpus and dish it out with double-barrelled guns whenever a target's handy. Yes, you guessed it, Fred's the target.

Hillbilly Farce Musical at York

Hilarity will reign supreme when PRC's "I'm From Arkansas," a hillbilly farce musical, featuring Slim Summerville, El Brendel and other comics, opens today at the York Theatre. A merry mélange of music and mirth, the picture was made with one purpose in mind—to squeeze as many laughs and appropriate musical numbers into the picture's running time.

It is a story of fame's descending upon the little Arkansas town of Pitchfork, when Esmeralda, a sow, creates a modern miracle in the husbandry world by producing a litter of 18.

In the cast, in which Iris Adrian and Bruce Bennett supply romance as well as comedy, are Maude Eburn, Cliff Nazario, Al (Fuzzy) St. John, Carolina Cotton and Danny Jackson.

Oak Bay Demands Release of More Building Materials

Oak Bay Council will send a telegram to R. W. Mayhew, M.P., and Premier John Hart, both at present in Ottawa, endorsing the demand by Victoria Citizens' Rehabilitation Council for immediate release of building materials to complete house construction, and the demand by Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion, for immediate action on the unemployment situation among ex-servicemen here.

Reeve W. L. Woodhouse told the Oak Bay Council, meeting Wednesday night, he was very much concerned about present conditions. If materials could be had, he said, work could be found for a great number of men. It was noted 20 to 25 ex-servicemen were building houses in Oak Bay at present.

NEW WATER MAIN

A preliminary memorandum on Oak Bay water supply was received by the council from F. C. Stewart, Mr. Stewart believed a new main would be built in a very few years from Goldstream to the city and would connect with the existing 36-inch pipe north of the fountain, also branching east, to terminate at Foul Bay Road, on Lansdowne Road.

"This main will become the principal supply line to Oak Bay, and would be designed to supply ample water not only for today, but for many years to come, maybe 40 or 50 years," Mr. Stewart believed.

Two suggested improvements were offered by Mr. Stewart. The first was to lay a 12-inch main from Oak Bay Avenue, via Mitchell, Brighton, Victoria, Sutherland and Falkland, to Central Avenue, continuing to Beach Drive in a 10-inch main. This would give not only adequate domestic supply, but also fire protection in most of the area south of Oak Bay Avenue, he said. The entire south system would be greatly strengthened.

His second suggestion was that a 12-inch main be laid from Foul Bay Road, via Goldsmith, Downes and Hampshire to Burdick, and an eight-inch main from this on Thompson to Cadboro Bay Road, and a six-inch main on Burdick to connect with the eight-inch main on Beach Drive.

This, he believed, would reinforce the whole system north of Oak Bay Avenue, and east of the exhibition grounds. Both installations would have a great immediate value in strengthening the system generally and in supplying the higher levels in the municipality, he said.

The memorandum was referred to the committee as a whole.

ADD CONSTABLE

Following a report by the board of police commissioners, that, in order to comply with the Municipal Act, eight constables were required for the municipality, instead of the present seven, the council immediately gave approval to the necessary action being taken to secure the additional constable.

The council moved appointment of A. D. Findlay as returning officer for the forthcoming December elections, and E. H. Hart as deputy returning officer.

Asks Mayhew's Support for Legion Plea for Veterans

Mayor Percy George has telegraphed R. W. Mayhew asking his support of the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion in their plea for immediate action to relieve the unemployment situation among returning war veterans in the Victoria area.

At the moment the City Council is awaiting results of various representations being made on behalf of the city and veterans by Premier John Hart at the Dominion-Provincial Conference before continuing with any further action to start works projects or press for additional housing projects, Mayor George said.

The Citizens' Rehabilitation Council, together with Mayor George and representatives from the Chamber of Commerce, presented a brief on veterans' employment and housing to Premier Hart before he left for Ottawa and he promised that he would bring up the matters concerned there.

Also before going to Ottawa the Premier assured the Union of B.C. Municipalities, the mayor recalled, that he would take up the question of obtaining low-interest money for municipal public works, and grants-in-aid to help projects for veterans' employment.

"Until we hear the results of Premier Hart's representations, I do not feel the city can do anything further," the mayor said.

In his wire to Mr. Mayhew he said, "Britannia Branch of Canadian Legion has wired heads of departments at Ottawa calling attention to large number of ex-servicemen unable to find employment and asking for immediate action to relieve situation. May I request please that you will support this plea from the Britannia Branch. Am aware of growing feeling of discontent among ex-servicemen."

Warner Bros. adds another title to its long list of screen successes with the company's current production of "The Adventures of Mark Twain," which opened today at the Cadet Theatre. It took those imaginative brothers, whose understanding of the public taste is nothing short of phenomenal, to bring the vigorous, down-to-earth personality of the American humorist, who captured the hearts of millions, to the screen with all its natural verve and flavor. The Jesse L. Lasky production is fabulously lavish with a cast of 119, starring Fredric March and Alexis Smith. Donald Crisp and Alan Hale head an impressive list of featured players.

Oakalla Overflow For Prince George?

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Prince George Junior Chamber of Commerce executive will contact the Attorney-General's department regarding rumors said to be current in this area that it has been planned to use army detention barracks here for overflow from Oakalla prison farm at New Westminster.

Chamber of Commerce officials said the rumors developed following the visit of Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, G.O.C. Pacific Command, and Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons of the British Columbia Police. If the rumor proves correct the chamber strongly censures such a proposal, officials said.

Contest Foreseen For Nomination

A contest for the Coalition Party nomination in North Okanagan constituency for the Dec. 19 by-election was foreseen here today with the announcement in Vernon that C. W. Morrow, barrister and Liberal candidate for Yale in the 1940 Dominion general election, would seek the Coalition nomination.

Previously it had been indicated that former Education Minister H. G. T. Perry, defeated Oct. 25 in Fort George constituency, would seek the Coalition nomination.

The by-election was necessitated by the death Nov. 19 of Agriculture Minister K. C. MacDonald who had been returned at the general elections.

The Coalition candidate will be named at a joint Liberal and Progressive Conservative nominating convention at Vernon, Dec. 6.

No other names have been confirmed so far. Nor has any announcement of the C.C.F., Social Credit Association or Labor Progressive Party been made concerning the election although W. R. Smith, National Democratic Party leader, had suggested some time ago that he would be a candidate.

463,033 Cast Votes In Oct. 25 Poll

While official statements of returns have been received from only one constituency by the returning officer here, the unofficial count shows that 463,033 British Columbians voted in the Oct. 25 provincial general election.

In the 1941 provincial general election—453,893 "exercised the franchise."

Thus, despite unfavorable weather conditions for a large vote, 9,000 more ballots were cast last month than in the 1941 poll.

Of the total poll the Coalition received 258,499 votes, or 55.9 per cent, while the C.C.F. won 173,915 or 37.6 per cent. The L.P.P. won the votes of 16,484 electors while other party candidates received 14,135 votes.

Report of the final count Nov. 15 is still unavailable from South Okanagan. All other 47 constituencies have reported.

Only constituency to file the official return has been Cranbrook.

It is not known at the Parliament Buildings here yet whether the C.C.F. will demand a recount in Atlin where the Coalition candidate won by six votes, according to unofficial returns.

A recount must be demanded within eight days of the declaration by the returning officer of the election of a candidate. This formal declaration has not yet been made for Atlin.
